Antecedents of Mr Shideler. Hon. Henry Shideler, the Democratic candidate for the State Senate, is a man of great honesty of purpose, and cannot endure Board of Bank Commissioners, but exercise even the semblance of evil in anything with which he is connected. Born and bred a parent Bank. But their circulating notes farmer, he possesses more than an usual share of that integrity which always characterizes the tiller of the soil; a.d woe be to the man who dares make to him, either in his private or legislative capacity, a proposition which partakes in the least degree of the sum of the circulation bearings for value for the sum of the circulation bearings for which she is can be sum of the circulation bearings for value from the City, I tween the Brant and Valley Turnpites, two miles from Research two tween the Brant and Valley Turnpites, two miles from Research two tween the Brant and Valley Turnpites, two miles from Research two tion which partakes in the least degree of duplicity or corruption. Soon after taking his seat in the last State Senate, he gave a striking proof of this disposition to combat every thing which he considered wrong of the Safety Fund.

There is another system embraced in this unjust, by an act which commended itself.

There is another system embraced in this man handsomety overlooming the city. Those having property to exchange without to their interest to call upon CHARLES E. CLARK.

In the face of this enactments a custom has obtained among the member, of absenting themselves for days and weeks together from the halls of the two Houses, and even from the claiming and receiving their per diem the same as if they were all the while in actual attendance. It is a noted fact, that both Senstors and Representatives are in the habit of remaining away as long as two or three weeks at a time, attending to whole period. They thus use up the people's money, and give no recompence therse for, and indulge in a species of fraud but little short of downright robbery. Mr. Shideler had the courage, (for it required more courage than any one who was never placed in the same position would suspect,) to introduce and support a measure which would have ceut off this source of corruption effectually, and would have resulted in secondary and sound for sock as plagged for their resources.
